

Corona

Town & Country Escrow

10:00 PM PST on Tuesday, December 12, 2006

By RANDYL DRUMMER
Special to The Press-Enterprise

What's new: Town & Country Escrow celebrated its 30th year in business in Corona last month by donating 30 holiday turkeys to Settlement House, a nonprofit in Corona that helps low-income families in the area.

Story continues below

Handout

Town & Country employees, from left, Chris Morrison, Teresa Gaines, Deborah Park, Maria Avila, Pamela Walker, Claudia Morales, Teri Napier, Devyn Alexander celebrate the company's 30th anniversary last month in Corona.

What it is: Town & Country Escrow is a family-owned escrow company founded by Jay R. Churchill. Town & Country's main office is in Corona with branch offices in Fresno, Santa Ana and Beaumont. In addition to escrow services, the office also handles foreclosures and helps with tax-deferred real estate exchanges. As an independent escrow company, all employees have passed a background check and have significant escrow training.

When it opened: November 1976.

Where it is: 391 N. Main Street, Corona.

About the owner: Barbara M. Churchill, Jay Churchill's widow, now owns the company. Pamela Walker, who has been with the company for 27 years, specializes in commercial real estate transactions and exchanges. Teri Malcolm-Napier has been with the company for 21 years and specializes in residential, bulk transfers and manufactured homes. "The longevity and experience of the employees makes the company stable and productive," Barbara Churchill said. "The clients can feel the care and understanding that 30 years of service has produced. Jay always felt that an easy-to-understand escrow process would benefit the consumer and real estate professionals."

How many employees: 27.

Find out more: 951-737-8860 and on the Web at www.tcscrowcorp.com

Is your business new in town? Expanding? Celebrating a significant milestone?

You can share that news with the community every Wednesday in The Press-Enterprise's Business Scrapbook.

Go to www.PE.com/business/scrapbook to submit an item for consideration.
